

Scott Andrews-Brown Guitar Studio

Studio Policy

Welcome to the studio! I am excited that you have chosen to study guitar with me - guitar is an incredibly fun instrument to learn with a multitude of different styles to explore.

Generally, lessons are scheduled weekly. Even if you feel that you did not practice enough to justify coming to a lesson, a weekly checkup is always worthwhile. Lessons act as motivation to practice and give you extra guidance through tough sections of the music and, more importantly, it is an hour of focused practice with a coach.

Choosing songs

Together we will select songs to learn that you are interested in and will be suitable to your skill level. To optimize your lesson time, I ask that if you are looking at a new song please give me one week's notice to look up the music for it.

What to bring

Guitar, tuner, music we are working on, a notebook to take lesson notes (optional)

Punctuality

Lessons are scheduled back to back so I ask that you arrive just prior to your lesson time. If you are early there is a couch in the front lobby to sit and wait on.

Payment

For the first month of lessons payment per lesson is acceptable. The subsequent months are to be paid in full at the first lesson of the month. I accept cash or personal cheque.

Missed lessons

If less than 48 hours of notice is given for a lesson cancellation, the cancellation fee is equivalent to one lesson. Lessons canceled more than 48 hours in advance do not incur a cancellation fee and are given the option of rescheduling, pending availability. Lesson cancellations can be either phoned in to (250) 382-6500 or emailed to s.andrewsbrown@gmail.com

I look forward to working together.
